CSX holding Bay 'hostage'

Council abandons bike path

By MARY G. SEILEY

Complaining that CSX is holding the city "hostage," a frustrated Bay St. Louis City Council agreed Tuesday to abandon an extensive proposed bikeway project south of Highway 90. At least temporarily, that is.

Council took the action after meeting with the project engineer and Jeff Loftus of Gulf Regional Planning staff. Loftus warned that even the drastic cutback might be too little, too late, to save any of the project.

At issue are components of what were to have been a $1.3 million, federally funded bikeway and pedestrian walkway, winding through Bay St. Louis and Waveland. Officials of the two cities and Hancock County have been working on the proposal for some five years, trying to come up with a financially feasible, viable route.

At this point, however, Bay St. Louis remains unable to get rights-

New year prompts Pass to begin movin' & shakin'

BY ED LEPOMA

Now that the new year is here, Pass Christian city leaders are in a moving and building mood.

At Tuesday night's recess meeting, the Board of Aldermen took action on several projects. Mayor Billy McDonald was under the weather with a cold and did not attend, so Alderman Jeff Emerson served as Mayor pro tem, and zipped through the agenda.

The mayor and aldermen have long wrestled with what to do with a vacated and deteriorating cottage on the grounds of War Memorial Park off Scenic Drive. Several residents have expressed interest in the building, and one wanted to repair it and live in it, but that plan didn't fly.

Last night, attorney Malcolm Jones said another person was interested in the cottage, but backed out when he learned

Dispute erupts over Bay proposed drainage plan

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis City Council agreed Tuesday to call for bids on the last leg of its drainage improvement package -- even as a major dispute erupted between the city's public works director and the private engineer in charge of the project.

Engineer James Chiniche's new proposal for "large savings" of over $611,000 in Bay St. Louis's drainage project simply won't work, Public Works Director Ron Vanney says.

Chiniche is suggesting deletions and alterations in Project "C" before the contractor gets the go-ahead, shaving some $210,000 from the project's cost. Another $401,000 would be avoided in project costs by having city crews perform sewer and water line work associated with the project, Chiniche recommends.

Project "C" covers work in the downtown area, including Easterbrook, Main and Second streets, Ulman Avenue and the St. Augustine property at Highway 90.

Council accepted a bid of almost $3 million for the work by Colom Construction Co., but has been negotiating to whittle the price down before the project work is launched.

Vanney told City Council in a

Three more incumbents have drawn challengers for county offices in the upcoming Aug. 3 primary.

And, Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson qualified to seek a sixth consecutive term as the county's chief law enforcement officer.

Qualifying this week to run against incumbent Superintendent of Education Terry Randolph was Mike Ladner from Nacaise Crossings. Ladner is work-based learning coordinator at the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center. Both are Democrats.

The rebuilt Dunbar pier in Cedar Point is 99 percent complete, and handicapped accessible. Tony Parnell Construction of Vancleave was the low bidder on the work, and brought the project in for $121,273, with more than half of the money coming from Wallop-Breaux federal funds. Architects say some signs warning against diving and other restrictions still have to be erected, but fishing is okay now. The pier is not now lighted, but there are moves underway to light it. Justices uphold conviction

BY B. R. HAWKINS

Thomas David Bailey's appeal to the state Supreme Court was denied Thursday. Bailey, a Hancock County man, was convicted on charges of misdemeanor child abuse in 1997.

The court upheld the Hancock County Circuit Court's decision to reject a felony child abuse charge and to sentence Bailey to one-year in jail and a $1,000 fine for striking a 4-year old boy's genitals with a wooden spoon.

Bailey contended, among other things, Circuit Court Judge John H. Whitfield erred in not determining the child's competence to testify and by substance and simple assault on a police officer.

"This is a guy we've been trying to get for over a year now," said Corr. He heads a ban of juveniles who sell drugs and go around harassing the community of Lee Town and the youths who don't join his gang."

According to Corr, undercover Task Force officers made a date with Spooner to purchase two ounces of marijuana from him and made contact with him at Anner Road. After the purchase, other Task Force officers blocked Caesar Necaise Road, and Corr said Spooner attempted to run over one officer at the roadblock.

Spooner was arrested after he ran his vehicle into a ditch, and his mother gave officers her consent to search her house and his room, Corr said.

There, officers found two more ounces of marijuana and a SKS-7.62 rifle, Corr said. Officers also confiscated and seized a 1986 Cadillac and $628 in cash, Corr said.

Corr said Hancock County Sheriff's Department investigators Phillip Pavolini and Ken Hurt assisted the Narcotics Task Force.

In an unrelated bust, a Picayune couple was arrested at a Hancock County pharmacy Sunday afternoon on charges of prescription forgery.

Corr identified the pair as Lee Hugo Jarrell, 29, and his wife, Jacqueline Elizabeth Jarrell, 31, both of 41 Oak Drive, Picayune. Both are being held in Hancock County jail under bonds of $5,000 each.

Corr said the couple tried to get a prescription filled for the drug, Lortab, a painkiller, at a local pharmacy, and were arrested on the spot about 2:35 p.m. Sunday.

Agent Mike Hardy is investigating, Corr said.

Pass awards contract for hurricane repairs

BY ED LEPOMA

A Biloxi contractor has been awarded an emergency contract to repair Pass Christian buildings damaged by Hurricane Georges.

Mayor Billy McDonald called a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen Thursday afternoon to hear a report on recommendations by local architect Kevin Fitzpatrick.

Fitzpatrick looked over damages to the Senior Citizens Center and the city's utility office on Second Street, in addition to the city's two fire stations and the police station.

The Senior Citizens Center, already in a state of deterioration, was in the most need of repair, he said, but replacing the structure would cost an estimated $240,000.

Aldermen approved letting an emergency contract "not to exceed $70,000 to Best Contractor, LLC of Biloxi to get the building back in shape. The building's roof was the mostly heavily damaged.

Fitzpatrick estimated repairs might cost around $67,800, but he said there might be other surprises when contractors get into doing the actual repair work.

Damages to the other city buildings were described as "minor," and should amount to no more than $20,000, said McDonald. Best was also given the contract for that repair work.

The Mayor said the Federal Emergency Management Administration has already informed the city it will pay for at least $17,000 of the repair work. Additional monies of $48,000 will be received from city insurance, he said.

McDonald said the city's could also collect more than was originally estimated by the city's property coverage carrier, which is sending agents back to inspect the Senior Citizens Center.

"All in all, it shouldn't cost us (the city) more than $10,000 to $15,000 to get these buildings back in shape," said McDonald. "It could be less."

New tractor

Recently Leadership Gulf Coast and the Isle of Capri presented a new garden tractor/mower and shed to Hope Haven Children's Shelter in Bay St. Louis. Hope Haven director, Terry Latham said, "This lawnmower will really come in handy when we move into the new shelter in that we'll have almost an acre of land for which to care. It was a wonderful Christmas gift." Hope Haven volunteer, Eddie Brown, seated on tractor, assisted Latham in assembling the shed.

Methodist Women

Main Street United Methodist Women in Bay St. Louis are shown at their annual Christmas luncheon with toys to be donated to the children at the Gulf Coast Women's Center. UMW held its Christmas luncheon Dec. 9 in the Multi-purpose Building at Main Street United Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis. The A Cappella Choir, prior to the covered dish luncheon, presented a musical program. Outgoing UMW officers were recognized for their contributions during 1998. They are Clyde Richardson, president; Eve McDonald, vice president; Lyn Nybo, treasurer; and Betty Allen secretary. UMW officers for 1999 are Clarisse Hively, president; Eve McDonald, vice president; Lyn Nybo, treasurer; and Thelma Peerson, secretary. In remembrance of others in the community, members assembled flower arrangements to be given to local shut-ins, and toys were collected for children at the Gulf Coast Women's Center to be distributed over the Christmas holidays.

nior at Our Lady Academy.

In making his announcement, Bennett said, "Hancock County is one of the fastest growing counties in Mississippi and is requiring increasingly sophisticated technology in the assessor's office to keep pace with the growth."

"I have served the present assessor, Eddie Murtagh, in a professional capacity for the past 17 years, and I would deem it an honor and a privilege to serve the people of Hancock County in the same professional manner as the elected assessor/tax collector of Hancock County."

"CUEVAS" QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I received a telephone call Monday morning from Mrs. Leona Ruffin of Picayune, who was very upset about a little angel that was stolen from her grandson's gravesite in Logtown in recent days.

Mrs. Ruffin said her grandson, who was eight at the time of his sudden death and a student at St. Clare Elementary School in Waveland, had not been dead a year.

She is urging whoever removed the angel to please return it to the gravesite.

The little angel had been placed on the gravesite of Seth Osterholm. It was a precious gift from his parents.

Mrs. Ruffin and her family would really be grateful for the statue's return.

The Mississippi State Veterans Affairs Board is attempting to locate living Mississippi veterans who served on active duty during World War I (April 6, 1917-November 11, 1918).

The reason for this search is because the Government of France, as well as other organizations, are honoring World War I veterans as part of the commemoration of the 80th anniversary of the end of World War I.

I have known several World I veterans, but to my knowledge all are now deceased. Still, there may be others residing in the area whom I do not know.

If you are a World War I veteran and reside in Mississippi, please contact the State Veterans Affairs Board, 206 West Pearl Street, Suite 1100, Jackson, MS 39201-2922, (601) 354-7377.

By the way, we at the Sea Coast Echo would like for you to contact us, too.

Big birthday congratulations are in order to a longtime friend, Mrs. Edith Dantagnan, who recently celebrated her 95th.

Mrs. Dan, as she is known by many, is still very active in the community and attends many chamber functions, such as Business After Hours.

Now retired from her family-owned real estate business, Mrs. Dan still stays abreast of community happenings.

A native of the Village of Napoleonville, La., she was honored by receiving a Distinguished Citizen Award from the community at her birthday celebration, which drew 109 family members and was hosted at Lake Fausse Point State Park.

I have known Mrs. Dan for many years. As a matter of fact, I purchased the lots for my home from her late husband many, many years ago.

Oceanographer Patty Simm of Diamondhead has reason to be all smiles, as she has been named the Mississippi Coast Association of Federal Administration Outstanding Federal Civilian of the Year for 1998.

Simm is a sea-going oceanographer for the Naval Oceanographic Office's Ocean Projects Department at John C. Stennis Space Center.

As many of you know, the Naval Oceanographic Office at the John C. Stennis Space Center in Hancock County has the largest number of oceanographers assigned at one facility in the world.

Even though Simm is a woman, she goes to sea on naval oceanographic ships to collect data around the world.

Congratulations are in order for Patty Simm, who is very active in the area in community endeavors by NAVOCEANO.

Calvin Shiyou found an interesting commissary token while hunting this week.

It was a 50¢ piece for Cuevas Lumber Company, Fenton, Miss.

Shiyou said he picked up the coin while walking on a logging road between the C.C. and Rocky Hill roads.

He brought the coin to the Hancock County Historical Society, and Charles Gray is doing research on its origin.

I know members of my immediate family were involved in the timber operations, but had not heard of a mill being owned by a Cuevas.

The tokens were exchanged as cash at a mill commissary for food and supplies by its workers.

Shiyou said he has a complete set of commissary tokens for the McLeod Turpentine Company, and this was the first one he had seen from a Cuevas Lumber Company.

I can recall as a youngster watching workers with mule-pulled wagons collect the turpentine from the pine trees behind our home in Waveland for the McLeod Turpentine Company.

It amazes me how much history there is still to be recorded on Hancock County.

That is one of the reasons Gray is trying to gather and record so much information at the Hancock County Historical Society before it is lost forever.

Miss. Sheriffs Anti-Litter Week Campaign set Feb. 8-12

By Kenneth I. Warren
Executive Director
Mississippi Department of Transportation

County-housed inmates will take to rights-of-way of state-maintained highways in Mississippi Feb. 8-12 to pick up litter. Inmates serving time in county jails are performing this duty as part of the Mississippi Sheriffs Anti-Litter Campaign Week, a week so designated by the Mississippi Sheriffs Association (MSA) and proclaimed by Gov. Kirk Fordice.

The Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) appreciates the sheriffs' assistance, and the timing of the cleanup is great. Trash along highways is particularly offensive this time of year. The dead vegetation makes it more visible.

MDOT is providing trash bags and safety rules and regulations for the week's litter pickup and will dispose of the bagged trash. Forty hours of picking up litter by each county-housed inmate should result in clean highway rights-of-way, for a while at least.

We ask that motorists use extreme caution since workers will be alongside highway rights-of-way across the state throughout that week.

Lowndes County Sheriff Ed Prescott, MSA president, tells us that some sheriffs already use inmate labor for litter pickup in many areas, usually on county roads. This is the first time that five consecutive days have been set aside by the MSA for litter pickup on state-maintained highways, and MDOT is grateful for the help.

Prescott says he believes the week's work will be beneficial. We agree because the amount of litter on highway rights-of-way appears to be increasing instead of decreasing. This labor-intensive problem is expensive.

MDOT invested approximately $1.3 million in litter removal from state-maintained highways in fiscal year 1998, and they were still trashy.

Much of the litter is blown from uncovered pickup and waste-hauling trucks, unattended construction debris, or spillage as dumpsters and garbage cans are emptied. The remainder appears to be willfully and deliberately thrown from the windows of motor vehicles, which amounts to throwing a million dollars out the window.

We all know that litter hampers economic growth and development when it creates a negative image of Mississippi and her people. Litter defaces all the natural beauty so abundant in our state.

It destroys the ability of our people to compete for industry that is badly needed to help us climb the economic ladder. By maintaining a cleaner, more attractive environment, Mississippi's image will be that of a more hospitable state.

Litter is a kind of decay; it is a physical disorder. It causes a community to deteriorate, and when that happens, crime moves in. It is normal for criminals to be attracted to neighborhoods that tolerate disorder because opportunities for crime seem to increase when it appears that no one cares.

In 1982, Dr. George Kelling wrote an article for the Atlantic Journal entitled "Broken Windows." His theory was, if a window in a building is broken and left unrepaired, soon all the windows in the building will be broken. An unrepaired window is a signal that no one cares. Litter is a broken window in the community and should not be tolerated.

By seeking strict enforcement of litter laws by all law enforcement agencies; by encouraging the public to recycle; and by educating youngsters about protecting the environment, we are working to attain a cleaner Mississippi. We have a long way to go.

We continue to search for ways to deter littering and to raise the level of awareness that littering is a crime. Picking it up is not preventing the act of littering, and we must learn how to instill the pride necessary to make people want to protect Mississippi's environment. We need your suggestions of ways to accomplish this necessary goal.

Ideas to deter littering may be submitted to MDOT's Public Affairs Division, P.O. Box 1850, Jackson, MS 39215-1850; faxed to (601) 359-7077 or Email: paffairs@mdot.state.ms.us. Send us what you think would be a workable solution.

When you see your sheriff, thank him for using his resources to provide such a worthwhile and needed service to the citizens of Mississippi, and please join our efforts by taking an active role in litter prevention.

In closing, I will tell you that MDOT employees live in every county and city in this state. We have the same desires you and your families have for a safe and cost efficient transportation system. We work for you and stand ready to assist you, so please let us know how we may be of service.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Writer says buffer zone no place for waste disposal

Dear Editor:

I am outraged that the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County would even consider allowing a solid waste disposal site to be located anywhere near the drainage basin for the beautiful, clean and valuable Jourdan River.

What are you people thinking about? Money? Even that doesn't explain your thinking. If it were only money, you would know that the Jourdan River is one of the county's most valuable resources. Have you looked at the property assessments?

If property is on the river or has access to it, the value is at least double that of property without these benefits. Clean, beautiful waterways — the Jourdan River and Bay St. Louis are the main reason people visit and buy weekend and full-time homes in Hancock County.

You already tax non-resident homeowners at 150 percent of what you tax residents, with no option for homestead exemption. Where will you be without these tax dollars when these people leave because the water and air are too contaminated to tolerate?

Have you ever driven behind one of the huge trucks that haul waste to a site like the one you are planning? The trash rains down on the road behind them. Actually you could track them by the smell alone!

Have you ever researched the accident statistics on Hwy. 603? One of the best bumper stickers I have ever seen says, "Pray for me, I drive 603."

How could the money generated by this disaster ever pay for the loss of life resulting from accidents caused by the increased large truck traffic on 603?

These huge dump trucks will be roaring through the school zone at the intersection of 603 and Stennis access road. Will all of you attend the first funeral for the child killed by one of these trucks?

The residents of Hancock County saw the installation of the Stennis Test Site as a mixed blessing. It brought jobs and dollars into the county. It also resulted in the displacement of some people from their homes.

Hancock County has made the most of the change. The land has been used as a source of income from tree farming to fish farming. The biggest benefit has been that the lack of residential development has meant that the Jourdan River is one of the cleanest rivers in the state.

This wonderful waterway has brought a boom in tourism as well as a huge jump in land values. The users of this river spend big dollars in Hancock County. These dollars stay in the county. These dollars provide jobs in the county. These dollars have provided for the new Hancock County High School.

I can promise you that when and if this solid waste landfill is located in the buffer zone, everyone will suffer. The roads will be covered with litter. Hwy. 603 will be destroyed by the extremely high volume of heavy truck traffic. There will be accidents and fatalities. Tourists will find someplace else to spend their money. And, the property values will drop.

This proposed landfill will never generate enough money to cover these losses. This is not Louisiana; surely a few people lining their pockets don't have more power than the people of Hancock County!

You are elected representatives of all the people of Hancock County. Please look out for their best interest. Please represent the wishes of the silent majority and those of us who are not so silent.

Please don't allow the construction of a solid waste landfill in the buffer zone-drainage basin of the beautiful and clean Jourdan River.

SCHOOLS

Q Must Sixteenth Section Principal Funds earned from a shared township be shared according to applicable percentages of educable children?

A Yes, the allocation of funds is governed by Section 29-3-119 which states "available funds shall be distributed to the two or more school districts in proportion to the number of educable children."

There is no distinction in the law that this allocation applies only to Sixteenth Section Interest Revenue.

Available funds would mean both Sixteenth Section Interest Revenue and Sixteenth Section Principal Revenue.

Bike—Temporarily on hold of-way from CSX to have the bikeway cross the railroad tracks at two points: at Second Street and St. Charles Street. Without crossing the tracks twice, the bikeway doesn't form a loop. And a loop is what federal officials require for such bikeways under the grant.

CSX officials say they'd allow the two crossings, if the city would close two other vehicular crossings of the tracks. That's not acceptable to City Council, however.

The same CSX insistence that the city close some track crossings stalled the city's ability to launch its drainage upgrade project. To get around the problem, the city accepted a "right of entry" on CSX property, and will settle with the rail company in court on how much the actual easements will be worth later.

Tuesday, Mayor Eddie Favre and city attorney Donald Rafferty rejected suggestions from council that the city condemn the right-of-way needed for the bikeway. Such an action could upset the delicately negotiated arrangement the city now has allowing the drainage project to proceed, they warned.

After the drainage project is complete, said Favre, the city would have more latitude in dealing with CSX.

The situation infuriated council member James Thriffley, who has insisted that the bikeway's downtown route would be exactly what federal officials want to achieve with alternative forms of transportation.

"We've been held hostage for five years" with the CSX right-of-way problem, said Thriffley. "I don't anticipate them changing their minds."

But Thriffley said federal transportation officials who promote bikes in lieu of cars for transportation should not allow the railroad "to stab us in the back. I think it's a grave injustice to the whole program and to the people of Bay St. Louis."

Loftus, meanwhile, said Department of Transportation officials have told him they most likely will send a letter March 1 "relinquishing" the entire grant. Dropping the downtown bikeway, he said, removes the right-of-way obstacle and may be sufficient to salvage part of the grant.

What would be left is a pedestrian walkway along South Beach Boulevard, from Washington Street to Coleman Avenue. In addition, the city would get a bikeway loop on Dunbar Avenue, between Highway 90 and North Beach Boulevard.

Council didn't accept Loftus' recommendation easily, or without making a number of alternative suggestions. One of those was to build the bikeway on its original path, stopping just short of the two track crossings. Loftus said DOT wouldn't buy that plan.

Another idea council appeared to like came from council President Tad Black: build a bikeway down Old Spanish Trail to Nicholson Avenue, cross the tracks there and join up with the pedestrian pathway on South Beach Boulevard. Black and others said crossing the track at Nicholson probably wouldn't cause a problem with CSX, because Waveland and the rail company have come to terms on closing street crossings in that town.

When Loftus said Waveland officials weren't "happy" with the idea that the project is on the brink of collapse, Rafferty said CSX really has other things as a priority. "They make $8 billion a year. They're not concerned about it," said Rafferty.

Thriffley, meanwhile, included a plea in the prayer he always offers before council officially convenes, for Divine help with the project.

In other matters Tuesday, council accepted a bid to demolish a structure at 215 Ballentine St., but agreed to give the owner until Feb. 2 to empty the house of furniture and other belongings. The vacant dwelling has been condemned by the city building official, and is overrun with rodents and infested with termites, council was told.

City Attorney John Scafide said he'll check to make sure there are no liens on the property that would take precedence over the lien the city will file to recover the demolition and clearing costs: $3,900.

Council also reappointed Richard Flowers to another term on the Bay Waveland School Board, on the recommendation of Favre.

In another matter, council agreed to review a newly mapped layout of street numbers. Officials say some streets have such erratic numbering that emergency vehicles have trouble responding to calls. Officials also want to re-name some streets, which are almost duplicative.

Thriffley said the maps should be posted in the main lobby of City Hall Annex, so the public can review them before any numbering or name changes are made.

Dispute—Proposal argued

Jan. 14 letter that just because "some of these deletions (suggested by Chiniche) appear to be a large savings to the contract price, it is not a savings to the project as a whole. It does not eliminate the need for having the work done."

And Vanney said while his department has the expertise to handle the sewer and water line work, "we have neither the equipment nor the personnel to handle that type of construction. If we were equipped to handle the sewer and water, we would be capable of doing the entire project and would have no need for a contractor."

City Council, the mayor, Vanney and Chiniche were to meet behind closed doors Wednesday night to negotiate a final construction contract. While Mayor Eddie Favre said he didn't expect council to take action, Tuesday's regular meeting was recessed until Wednesday to leave that option open.

City officials are implementing a $5.5 million drainage upgrade program, which is financed through a general obligation bond. The work is staged to proceed in three separate contracts.

But project costs have been far beyond what officials expected, and officials have scrambled to come up with the finances to complete all three segments. Some recommendations for deleting optional work already have been accepted, and the city turned to county and state officials for help with some paving and drainage aspects of the program.

In addition, the city shifted some of its annual budget to the cause, hoping a one-time boost would allow completion of the large-scale public works project.

Colum Construction Co. won the contract for the initial two phases of work, including Project "A" in the Spanish Acres area and "C," downtown. Those contracts have combined costs of some $4.2 million of the originally budgeted $5.5 million. Not only have there been some expensive change orders during the process, but also the city has had unexpectedly high costs in rights-of-way acquisition.

Changes to the scope of work and the various components of construction continue. Chiniche, most recently outlined further reductions he's proposing to trim costs of the downtown area project. Colum's bid of $3 million for that project was about 30 percent higher than Chiniche's original estimate.

Negotiations already have trimmed the $3 million price down to $2.7 million. The latest additions and deletions the engineer is proposing would leave the contract at $2.2 million.

Aside from a proposed shift of all water and sewer line work to Vanney's department, Chiniche is suggesting deleting all previously planned work from Highway 90 to Ruella Street, and St. Mary Cemetery to St. Francis Street, except minor channel excavation, clearing, grubbing and grass establishment.

He also wants to delete grouted pipe that had been planned for the 400 block of Main Street, and Main Street to State Street, for additional savings.

But the biggest chunk of savings would come in deleting all sewer and waterline removal and relocation. That work involves utility lines under Second, State, Main, George and Nicaise streets, and Carroll Avenue.

Vanney said in his letter that giving the Public Works Department the water and sewer line portion of the job "could pose an undue burden on the city and the contractor."

And, he said, confusion, conflict and additional costs could result. He cited the potential for "liquidated damages, liability to the contractor for possible damages to their work, (questions over) who is responsible for what, and possible litigation and further expense."

Pass—Moving

that he would have to bear half the expense of getting three appraisals in order for the city to establish a fair market value of the cottage.

Aldermen instructed Jones to get the appraisals and put the cottage up for public auction, with the stipulation that the successful bidder would pay for the cost of removing the cottage from the park.

Aldermen also instructed Jones to get an appraisal on the building on Second Street and Fleitas Street that has long been a home for local Boy and Cub Scout troops.

It seems the city is now looking at the building as the new office and storage area for the city's Recreation Department. The city owns the lot the hut stands on, but not the building.

The Scout troops, sponsored by the local Rotary Club, would use funds from the sale of the building to move to city-owned property and build a new hut at White City Park, east of Menge Avenue at North Street.

Plans to turn to the Scout Hut as the site for the Recreation Department developed after aldermen rejected the mayor's earlier plans to spend up to $125,000 to construct a new building for the department.

Aldermen also approved the Planning Commission's recommendations for several building projects.

David Allison proposes to build a Texaco Service Station/Convenience Store at the corner of West North Street and Henderson Avenue. The store could be open for business by late April, developers said.

Aldermen also approved plans for building a residential care and assisted living facility at St. Louis Street and Clarence Avenue. Michael Pou and Alex Hill, incorporated as Senior Builders, Inc., are developers of the facility, which will be called, "Twin Oaks." Ground will be broken in late March or early April.

Aldermen also approved harbor master J.J. Lassabe's recommendations to put out to bid the extension of the pier at the west end of the Municipal Harbor.

John Campton, the city's engineering consultant, provided two alternatives. One plan was to spend about $25,000, and construct four new slips plus space to berth transient boats. Another was to spend an estimated $80,000 and add 14 new large slips.

Lassabe recommended the larger-scale project and said Tideland Funds are available. The Department of Marine Resources has already reserved two of the large new slips for its boats.

Aldermen also sent back to the new fire chief, Rich Marvil, the draft of a new ordinance regulating bonfires and outdoor rubbish fires.

They also tabled a bid to spend $74,862 to purchase one emergency vehicle for the Fire Department. Some aldermen balked at the price for the vehicle, and some want two rescue units, one for the east end of town and one for the west end of town. They want Marvil to make a recommendation at the next meeting in February.

In other business, aldermen put out to public bid plans to construct a fence around the city's new firing range.

has also drawn an opponent in his bid for a second consecutive term. This week, Kyle R. Ahlers, a Republican from Kiln, qualified to run against him. Kellar is a Democrat.

District 1 Supervisor Lyonnie "Jeep" Ladner will be challenged by G.W. Graham of Bay St. Louis. Both are Democrats.

This week, a fifth challenger to Peterson entered the sheriff's race. He is Republican Julius A. Martin of Kiln.

A third person and familiar name entered the race this week to succeed longtime Tax Assessor/Collector Eddie Murtagh, who has announced he will not seek re-election.

E. Lee Bennett, a Republican from Diamondhead, will make a try for the office. Bennett has been Murtagh's chief consultant on ad valorem appraisals since 1980.

Others in the race include Democrats Jimmie Ladner Jr. of Bay St. Louis and Caroline Maurigi Adam of Bay St. Louis, who has been working in Murtagh's office as a deputy tax assessor for the past 14 years.

The only other new qualifier this week was L.J. "Larry" Peterson of Bay St. Louis, who will seek the Justice Court Judge seat in the West District. A Democrat, he has three Democratic opponents, including incumbent Judge Lee Klein, Paula Ladner Fayard and former Waveland Mayor Stella H. Frilot.

The deadline for qualifying in the August primary is 5 p.m. March 1.

Tigers split pair with Oak Grove

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

The Oak Grove Warriors invaded the Tiger Dome on Tuesday, Jan. 19, and split with the home-standing Tigers in Division 7 Class 4A basketball action.

The Lady Warriors shocked the Lady Tigers in girls varsity action 59-43. In the finale, the Tigers roared past the Warriors 76-61.

In the girls game, the Lady Tigers never seemed to get on track as Oak Grove jumped out to a 7-0 lead. Shenna Ambrose ended the scoring drought for Bay High with a three-pointer at the 3:43 mark of the first period to make the score 7-3.

Ambrose hit a jumper at the 7:39 mark to tie the score at 9-9. However, the Warriors kept the pressure on with Sarah Posey pulling a layup and drawing a foul. She made the charity shot and gave the Lady Warriors a 16-13 lead at the end of the first period.

It was a lead that the Lady Tigers would not be able to make up.

In the second period, the Lady Warriors outscored Bay High 12-8 to take a 28-23 lead into intermission.

In the third period, the Lady Warriors increased their lead to 43-31 behind Mary Clayton Norman's five points and four assists.

In the final period, the Lady Warriors outscored the Lady Tigers 16-12 to make the final score.

During the course of the game, the Lady Warriors went to the line 29 times and Bay High went 18 times.

Bay High head coach Debbie Fripplott stated, "We just did not show up to play tonight. Oak Grove is a good team. However, we had 22 turnovers and just six offensive rebounds. We were 17 for 48 shooting tonight."

With the loss, Bay High dropped out of a first place tie in the division with Hancock. The Lady Tigers now stand at 17-9 overall and 7-2 in the division.

In the boys game, the Tigers exacted a little revenge for the girls in a 76-61 win over the Warriors.

The Warriors and the Tigers played a close game in the first period with neither team gaining more than a two-point lead until the buzzer. Bay High Tiger Brent Haynes hit a jumper at the horn to make the score 20-16 at the end of one.

Bay High pushed the lead to 32-22 on Aaron Jordan's three-pointer with 2:23 left to play in the half.

But, David Lipscomb answered with a trey of his own for the Warriors with :57 left to play to make the score 35-29 at the break.

Bay High outscored the Warriors 14-11 in the third period to push their lead to 49-40.

Jermaine Alexander opened the final period for Bay High with a basket and a foul. Alexander sank the free throw to give the Tigers their first double-digit lead of the game. It was a lead that was not threatened by the Warriors for the remainder of the game.

The fourth period saw the Tigers outscore the Warriors 27-21 en route to their win.

Jermaine Alexander led all scorers with 20 points. Stevie Lizana added 14 points for the Tigers, while Jason Robinson and Louis Dunklin contributed 13 and 11 points, respectively.

Daniel Cook led the Warriors with 16 points followed by David Lipscomb with 11 points.

Bay High head coach Monty Noblitt commented, "I thought we shot the ball very well tonight and took advantage of the shots that they gave us. The biggest thing that I am proud of tonight is how well we played defense. If we continue that type of play, there is the chance to make some nice things happen."

"We shot better from the free throw line tonight going 14 for 18. However, we still need to get better as a team in beating the press. We have Harrison Central coming here on Friday. They are going to press us all night."

"They are used to tough competition and are very athletic. We will need to execute well on Friday."

With the win the Tigers improve their record to 12-9 overall and 5-5 in the district.

Waveland Little League sets 1999 registration

BY B. R. HAWKINS

The new board of directors for the Waveland Little League has set April 10 as opening day for the 1999 season. According to new Board President Eddie Reis, registration will be Friday and Saturday, Feb. 5 and 6, at the Waveland Ball Park on Central Avenue.

"Friday's registration will be from 5 until 9:30 p.m. and from noon until 4:30 p.m. on Saturday," he said. "Fees will be $25 for the first child and $15 for each additional child."

Reis explained the league has gone through a process of reorganization.

"We have formed new committees as well as a ladies auxiliary which will be responsible for all fund-raising activities and will manage the concession stand during the season," Reis said.

Committees and chairs include Equipment Committee, Shane LaFontaine; Finance Committee, Mark LaFontaine; Ladies Auxiliary, Marian Laurant; Coaches Committee, Tony Cardinale; Umpire Committee, Donald Peters; and Grounds Committee, Charlie Mitchell. Mitchell will work with Glen Meranto as player agents.

Reis and board member Leo Laurant anticipate the season beginning as early as April 1 and also expect there will be at least 20 to 25 teams.

"We are still looking for coaches and sponsors for teams," said Reis.

The board, according to Reis, has made a commitment to provide new catchers' equipment to at least 25 teams as well as work on updating all new equipment throughout the league.

For more information, contact Eddie Reis at 463-1390 or Leo Laurant at 466-2634.

It's the game, folks

Special to the Echo
By Dawson McCall

The basketball fiasco is over. Now it's time for everyone to lay the blame on the guilty parties. Judging from the past reactions to labor disputes in sports, somebody is going to be blamed, and it is most likely going to be the players.

Can't we all just realize what a terrible mess this whole thing has evolved into? If we, as true fans of the game, can just put this dark time behind us and realize what a beautiful thing the game of basketball is, then basketball will truly evolve into what it is supposed to be — the greatest game in the world.

Whether it's the NBA Finals, the College Final Four, or just a mere pick-up game in a ratty old gym, somewhere in the country there is love for the game, and there will always be this love.

No matter what the NBA players do, or how many games are cancelled by the commissioner of basketball, or how many lock-outs there are from here till the end of the league, somewhere there will always be love for the game of basketball.

Somewhere there will be someone who lives the game of basketball, who knows what the game is really about and loves it for these reasons and not because it is a business or a means of making money, but because it is a game, and that is what it is supposed to be.

The NBA players can take a lesson from the college ranks in this area of the game, to play the game and love the game. To play the game with all-out effort and with everything that you have.

The sheer perfection of a three-pointer that touches nothing but the bottom of the net, the simple power of a rebound being torn from the air after a perfect box-out, or the silky-smooth movements of a lightning quick point guard penetrating to the goal and making an acrobatic pass to the open man.

This is what basketball is all about, not how much money the players make or how much they're supposed to make. Not the greediness of the owners, but the drive and desire of all those who work at basketball every day and love the game for what it is supposed to be and not what it has become. From the coaches and players of the NBA to the smallest high school in the country, those who have the heart and desire to do whatever it takes to be a part of the great game of basketball, these are the people who make basketball such a great game. All of the people who never made it to the NBA or were never recruited by the major colleges — Duke, Kentucky, UCLA.

These are the people who make up what basketball is really about. The boy in Indiana who dreams of nothing else but to put on that Hoosier jersey, or the young man in the inner cities of New York who wants nothing more than to play in the NBA with the best players in the world.

Basketball is not about the 25 or so All-Stars who get paid $10 million a year. The game of basketball is about the people who never gave up on the game, just because they were not the best.

The dream of every high school player in the country to be the best — to play in the NBA. The people who love the game and will always love the game for what it should be. The game of basketball is about all of the high school games played throughout the country with all-out effort and heart. Games played with the pride and desire to be the best and nothing less.

If only the NBA players could realize how lucky they are to be playing basketball for a living. If they could play the game with the heart and desire that the fans of the game cheer with, then they would truly be something special.

For what is the NBA without the fans? Without the fans the stars of this great game would never be stars. There would never be the comparisons of "Magic" vs. Bird, Russell and Chamberlain or of Jordan vs. The World.

Think about how much better off basketball should be if we, as the fans of a great game, would remember what it is that we love about the game. It is different for everyone. It could be a bone-rattling dunk, or the splash of a jump shot being rattled home in the closing seconds of a playoff game, or it could be the guts and pride of a great defender denying an offensive player the right to score.

Whatever it is that we love about the game of basketball, let us remember what it is each time we feel hatred and disgust towards the players and owners of the NBA. Let us, the fans, be the bigger people and support a game that has given us so many great memories. If we can do this, then the game of basketball will take its place as the greatest sport in the world.

Yacht club to host Star Regatta

BY ED LEPOMA

For the first time ever, the Pass Christian Yacht Club will host the International Star Class Yachting Association's Western Hemisphere Spring Championship.

Chairman Don Doyle said the regatta, a six-race series, is scheduled to begin April 4, Easter Sunday and run through April 7. A tuneup race is scheduled on April 3, and 20 to 30 boats are expected.

"This is the first time PCYC has been the site for this regatta," said Doyle. "Generally, it rotates between Southern Yacht Club in New Orleans and Nassau in the Bahamas," said Doyle.

The Star is a two-man, one-design sailboat that measures approximately 22.8 feet. The Western Hemisphere Spring Championship is one of the competitions that will help determine the U.S. Star team that competes in the 2000 Olympics in Sydney, Australia.

Among competitors expected for the Pass competition is Mark Reynolds of San Diego, the 1992 Gold Medal winner.

Trial shifted to Bay

A former Lucedale police sergeant will be tried on burglary charges in Hancock County.

Circuit Judge Kathy King Jackson has approved a request by former Sgt. Pete DeSalvo to move his trial to another county because of widespread publicity concerning the case.

DeSalvo, who was second in command at the Lucedale Police Department, was arrested in January of 1998 and later indicted on 12 counts of burglary involving several area businesses.

He was arrested after law enforcement officers reportedly watched him break into the George County Tax Assessor's office.

DeSalvo has been out of jail on bond awaiting trial. No date has been set for his trial in Bay St. Louis.

BUSINESS NEWS

Business expo participants will glimpse 'Future Scan'

Participants in a Jan. 26-27 business exposition and symposium will get a glimpse of "Future Scan," the contextual environment in which decision-makers shape tomorrow for Mississippi and the nation.

"Decision-makers on a day-to-day basis are up to their ears in the things that are closest to them — personnel, issues, production issues, etc. — so they don't have the time to think about the broader context of the decision," Dr. Bill Gunther said.

"So we're going to begin the expo with something we call Future Scan, which is designed to provide the contextual environment in which technical decisions get made," added Gunther, a noted economist and dean of the College of Business Administration at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The '99 Financing Mississippi Expo and Symposium is expected to attract hundreds of local, state and regional business representatives to Hattiesburg's new Lake Terrace Convention Center to study the dynamics and challenges of regional economic growth.

It's the 1999 version of last year's Mississippi Business Open, which was conducted in Jackson.

Herbert D. Kelleher — Southwest Airlines' CEO, chairman and president — will be among top corporate executives sharing experiences and providing insight about keeping financial ships afloat during periods of economic uncertainty. He'll speak Jan. 26.

Other key speakers will include Richard E. Cripps, vice president and chief marketing strategist for Legg Mason; Elkan Scheidt, manager of the Southern Capital Fund for Morgan Keegan and Company Inc.; and Aubrey Patterson, chairman and chief operating officer for BancorpSouth.

Also scheduled to speak are Union Planters Bank President Lou Ann Poynter; Vector Money Management President Ashby Foote; Dr. Phil Pepper, state economist; and Gunther.

"Think about the driving forces that are shaping the future of Mississippi, and that are shaping the future of the U.S. that are shaping the future of the world," said Gunther. "How would a decision to invest in Mississippi play on and capture those driving forces?"

"We're going to begin with a very large overview of the world, the driving forces that are shaping the future — and then begin narrowing the focus so that ultimately, we'll get down to the decision, 'Should I invest in Mississippi or should I not?'," he continued. "The contextual environment in which that decision will be made is shaped at the opening session."

The 1999 expo, to be presented by the Southeast Mississippi Economic Development Network and other major sponsors, will be geared to explore regional financial and investment opportunities, according to James Watts of MarketSouth Productions, which is organizing the event.

Other sponsors include BancorpSouth Financial, BellSouth, MCI WorldCom, Legg Mason, Union Planters Bank, the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development and USM.

Exhibits will feature technology developments and innovative business products and services tailored to meet the needs of corporate decision-makers in the year 2000 and beyond.

Hancock reports increased earnings

Hancock Holding Company (Nasdaq/NMS:HBHC) has announced net earnings of $31.0 million, or $2.90 per share, for the year ended Dec. 31, 1998, compared to net earnings of $30.6 million, or $2.82 per share, for the same period in 1997.

Fourth quarter net earnings for 1998 were $7.5 million, or $0.72 per share, and compared favorably to the same period in 1997.

Current year earnings included after-tax gains of $1.2 million, recognized in conformity with a recent accounting pronouncement, on long-term government securities transferred from the held-to-maturity portfolio and subsequently sold to take advantage of market conditions.

Leo W. Seal, Jr., president and CEO, commented, "Moderate earnings for the year were primarily due to narrowing interest margins and increased operating expenses."

"For 1999, Hancock is concentrating its resources on new lines of business and expanding its market area, the full effect of which is not expected to impact earnings for another several months."

"The company has been refining a new retail delivery system as part of a streamlining effort, appropriately referred to as Mission Centennial and expects the system roll out in the first quarter."

On Oct. 9, 1999, Hancock County Bank began operating with $10,000 in capital and opening-day deposits of $8,277.41. Today, Hancock Holding Company, parent company of Hancock Bank in Gulfport and Hancock Bank of Louisiana in Baton Rouge, has assets totaling $2.8 billion.

The company, headquartered in Gulfport, operates 81 full-service offices and over 125 automated teller machines in the two-state area. Company subsidiaries include Hancock Mortgage Corporation, Harrison Finance Company and Hancock Investment Services Inc.

Hancock Holding Company's common stock is listed on the Nasdaq Stock Market under the symbol HBHC and is listed in the Nasdaq newspaper quotations under HancHd.

Whitney announces earnings

Whitney Holding Corporation (NASDAQ:WTNY) reported that in the fourth quarter of 1998 it earned $12.3 million, or $5.53 per share, before conversion and other merger-related expenses.

After recognition of these nonrecurring merger-related after-tax expenses of $840,000, Whitney earned $11.4 million, or $4.99 per share.

The following key items impacted the fourth quarter's results:

- Net interest income (FTE) increased 4% from the third quarter and 6% from 1997's fourth quarter. Continued loan growth was the most significant factor in this improvement.

- Non-interest income, excluding securities transactions and gains on sales of property, was 13% higher than in the third quarter and 9% higher than in the same quarter in 1997, with increases in most all categories of non-interest income.

The largest dollar contribution was from service charges on deposit accounts, which increased 9% from the previous quarter and 6% from 1997.

Credit card income increased 13% and 31% and trust service fees improved 15% and 34% from the third quarter of 1998 and the fourth quarter of 1997, respectively.

Casino selects local agency

The Brown Baer Wilcox Agency in Biloxi has recently been selected as agency of record for President Casino Broadwater Resort. BBW will be responsible for design and production of all of President Casino's marketing and advertising.

"We wanted an agency local to the Mississippi Gulf Coast capable of supporting us as we expand our casino and property," said Terrie Price, director of marketing.

The Brown Baer Wilcox Agency, a partnership of Margaret Brown Chenault, Debbie Baer and Rob Wilcox, is a full-service advertising firm specializing in marketing, communications and graphic design. The firm recently celebrated its first anniversary.

- Non-interest expense, excluding conversion and other merger-related expenses, was $52.5 million in the fourth quarter as compared to $50.3 million in the third quarter and $43.1 million in the fourth quarter of 1997. Investments in additional key personnel, unexpectedly high health claims expense, expenses related to the addition of newly constructed branches and the acquired branches in Lake Charles, La., and increased professional fees all contributed to the increase in expenses in the third and fourth quarters of 1998 from the fourth quarter of 1997.

- Like the third quarter, there was no provision for possible loan losses this quarter. There was a nominal $236,000 provision in the fourth quarter of 1997 from pooled acquisitions.

Loan growth remained strong in the fourth quarter with increases in all categories except installment loans. Average total loans in the fourth quarter were $3.2 billion, 16% higher than in the fourth quarter of 1997 and 6% higher than in the third quarter of 1998.

Average deposits continued to grow also and were $4.1 billion in the fourth quarter, up 8% over the comparable period in 1997. Average deposits grew 5% from the third to fourth quarters of 1998.

Non-performing assets were $16.2 million at Dec. 31, 1998, or .49% of loans plus foreclosed assets, down from $16.5 million, or .52% of loans plus foreclosed assets at Sept. 30, 1998.

Non-performing assets were $14.7 million at the end of 1997.

Net charge-offs were $1.4 million during the fourth quarter, as compared to $1.7 million in the third quarter and net recoveries of $5 million in the fourth quarter of 1997.

Included in net charge-offs in the fourth quarter was a $2.7 million charge-off related to the final settlement of previously disclosed claims by the U.S. Department of Education (DOE) stemming from Whitney's participation in guaranteed student loan programs.

Excluding this fully-reserved charge-off, Whitney would have had net recoveries of $1.3 million for the quarter. The DOE settlement plus loan growth reduced the reserve for possible loan losses as a percentage of loans to 1.23% at Dec. 31, 1998.

For the 12 months, Whitney earned $57.2 million, or $2.46 per share, before conversion and other merger-related expenses, compared to $59.7 million, or $2.59 per share, on the same basis in 1997. Reported net income was $52.7 million in 1998, or $2.26 per share, compared to $57.2 million, or $2.48 per share in 1997.

Total assets at Dec. 31, 1998 were $5.2 billion, and total deposits were $4.3 billion. Whitney had a return on average assets of 1.08% for 1998, compared to 1.23% in 1997, and a return on average shareholders' equity of 9.60% compared to 11.36% in 1997.

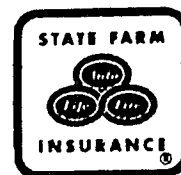

At year-end, Whitney continued to show capital strength with a regulatory Tier 1 capital ratio of 13.81%, a total capital ratio of 14.87%, shareholders' equity to total assets of 10.76% and a leverage ratio of 10.39%.
